"I wonder," sald an impecunious tenant, "if the reason the world moves is because it can't pay rent."

Oscar Wilde should sue somebody for li bel. A report has been started that he intends to play "Hamlet." This is untrue. He will continue to play the fool .- Norristown Herald

It was at an Oswego hotel table, according to The Times of that place, that the old Irish woman, viewing with disgust the young man opposite helping himself to celery, nudged her "old man" and said in audible tones: "D'ye moind the blacaguard ateing the bokay?"

"If I were in California," said a young fop, in company, the other evening, "instead of working in the mines, I would way. lay some miner, with a bag of gold, knock out his bia no, gather up his gold and run " "I think you would do better to gather up the brains," quietly responded a young lady.

At a wedding not long since, among the presents displayed was a $1,000 bank note from the father to the bride. After the wedding was over the old gentleman folded up the note and put it back in his vest pocket. The conduct of that doting father reminds one very much of the promise of reform made by candidates previous to election as contrasted with their performances when the election is over,

An lows paper has supplied a long-felt want by giving to the public an obituary notice that bears upon its face the stamp of honesty. It says: "He gained his riches by loaning money and handling notes and mortgages, and had a State-wide name for his litigation in various counties and in the Supreme Courts; was grasping and heartless in his transactions, became divorced from his wife, and died without a friend."

Civil service reform: "My son," said a fond New Haven mother, "I shall expect you to save some of your pennies for the mission. light of a political assessment and am advised by the civil service reform ring of the party not to heel it." The following anecdote is told by the Newton G aphic of an artist who made an imp tant discovery in the mixing of his pigments. This he confided to a friend. Later the friend, finding a brother of the guild puz zling over the same problem, come to the first, begging permission to disclose the secret. "Let me see," said the artist, thoughtfully drawing toward him a bit of paper, " know about it, that's one," making a line upon the paper, "and you know it, that's two," adding another line. "Now, if you tell this man, that"-drawing a third line-"will be only three," interpolated the friend. "No," and the artist pointed to his paper, "it's one hundred and eleven."

L countryman on a visit to friends went fishing. He caught a small pickerel. The fisherman was near-sighted and his mouth had the habit of standing ajar, and therefore, owing to the shortness of sight, the fisherman's mouth came very near the fish when it was unhooked. Unexpectedly, need one say, the fish, by a sudden jerk, jumped into the man's mouth and made straight for his throat and ran part way in. A cat and a fish are alike in one respectthey cannot be pulled by the tail the wrong way to the fur or scale. When the man attempted to take out the fish his back fin stood up and interfered, and the man ran home to his friends, who pushed the fish down and the man had dined. You may rise up and call the above a base fabrication, but personstean be produced who willswear to the main facts in the case. - Providence Journal.

RESCUED FROM DEATH. William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass says: In the fall of 1875 I was taken with REERDING OF THE LUNGS followed by a severe cough; I lost my appetite and flesh, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half it diar. At one tima report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Da WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAN; FOR THE LENUS. I got a bottle, when to my surprise, I commenced t feel better, and to day I feel better than for th 'ce years past,

CINCINNATI, CHIO. This firm is now in its sixth year of existence, and the rapid and permanent growth it has made is something unprecedented in the history of carriage building. Its permanancy and growth have been accomplished, not by any special effort at "drum-ming" the trade, but by the excellency of the work produced, and by the low price at which this work has been sold. Another great feature of its success is in the STYLE of the work produced. It is too often the case that in low priced work the style is corespondingly low or common in appearance. respondingly low or common in appearance. But all goods manufactured by T. T. Haydock, are made in a stylish and artistic manner, thus adding beauty to quality.
